

Pop-Up Targets by Oncourt Offcourt

The colorful set up two Pop-Up Targets attach to a tennis net with Velcro in just seconds to focus serving practice as well as many other shots, including passing shots, return of serves, and more. The targets are made of impact resistant nylon with a durable metal frame. The opening is over 20 inches in diameter. Each Pop-Up Target folds into its own nylon case for convenient storage when not in use.

Setting up your Pop-Up Targets takes about one minute. NOTE that it should only be set and taken down by an adult since the spring wire that frames each target pops open quickly. It works under the same principle as common pop-up tents and car dashboard protectors.

STEP #1: Pull the Pop-Up Target out of its case and CAREFULLY hold at arm's length. Securely hold the frame and slowly guide the target to its open position.

STEP #2: Hold the target against the net with the open target hole well above the net and the upper Velcro attachments just below the net band. If playing outdoors on a window day, place the target on the side of the net so the wind is blowing it into the net.

STEP #3: Pull the Velcro straps in each of the four positions around the weave of the net to secure each Pop-Up Target in place. If desired you can also trim the longer of the Velcro strips for ease of use. It has been made with longer Velcro strips in case users want to secure it as a target against a chain link fence.

STEP #4: For most, to disassemble and store the Pop-Up Targets is the fun and easy part, but it may take a few minutes of practice on your first attempt. The spring is designed to find its original compact folded position, but you have to firmly guide it into place. Remember that it WILL fit into its original packing position inside the carry case. Be patient and hold the unit firmly as you twist it like a pretzel into position. When properly folded, slide it into its carry case and secure with the Velcro strip.

Each Pop-Up Target folds down to fit in a 15-inch diameter nylon carry case.
